Sustainable transformations in SEND practice

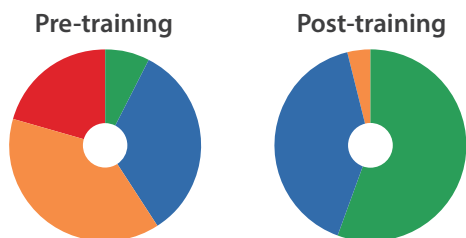

We are a provider of evidence-based 'just in time' professional training in Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND) and wellbeing, which delivers sustainable transformations in practice at a reasonable cost.

Our flexible, blended online courses are underpinned by a sophisticated learning management system that provides all the information you need to track and evaluate learning.

We believe that all children and young people should be given the best chance to achieve well and to lead emotionally resilient and fulfilled lives. Our courses help schools to narrow the gap in attainment and improve life chances for all students.

Impact on teacher confidence in overall abilities to meet the needs of students with SEND

● Very confident      ● Somewhat confident
● Fairly confident    ● Not confident

- Identifying needs faster enables more efficient and targeted use of resources
- A Learning and Engagement Manager helps you get the best value from your licence

Delivery Model

Online learning means that participants can log in to their course anywhere at any time, using a computer, laptop, tablet or mobile phone, making it possible to fit study sessions around work and home life.

Participants don't study alone, however – they learn in cohorts supported by a tutor who facilitates knowledge sharing and reflections on current practice.

A tutor is typically a school or education system professional who supports teaching teams to develop SEND practice and provide an inclusive education. After training as a tutor with OLT, they can tutor courses for others. Where appropriate, they can reinforce learning with training sessions online or in person.

Pricing

Licences are competitively priced and available to schools and education systems. The cost is based on the number of student enrolments in your school/education system.
